Enhance Knowledge with Tableau CRM and Einstein Discovery Consultant Sample Questions:

Question: 1

When creating a story in Einstein Discovery, a client is wondering if all potential collinear fields need to be removed before executing the build story. What would accurately answer the client's question?

- Yes. If the collinear variables are not removed, the Einstein Discovery model build will fail.
- No. Although it is ideal to eliminate collinearity as soon as possible, Einstein will give a warning post-build, and the ridge regression will prevent collinearity from overfitting.
- Yes. If all collinear variables are not excluded, the model will overfit and not make any sense.
- No. Einstein Discovery is impervious to collinearity, so the story and subsequent model will be fine.
